Mr. Brooks made a strong argument, dwelling particularly on the point that Congress had formerly intended to remove the duty from this article in the act removing the duty from all articles used in the manufacture of printing paper, and only the decision of Secretary Boutwell subjected it to tariff charges.

State of Ohio, Allen County, ss.—Before the undersigned authority personally came Eliza Adams, who being by me first duly sworn according to law, says that she was seventeen years on the 23d day of January, A. D., 1880; that ever since about the 12th day of December, 1871, she has lived with A. P. Adams, her uncle, on his farm, about two and one-half miles south of the town of Van Wert, Van Wert County, Ohio. That on or about the morning of March 9th, A. D., 1880, she gave birth to an illegitimate child at Hunt's Hotel, in the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, and that her said uncle, A. P. Adams, is the father of said child.

Deponent further says that about three months ago one J. W. Perry, of Owenton, Kentucky, came to her uncle's house, near Van Wert, Ohio, and that at the request of her said uncle, A. P. Adams, she went with said Perry to live with his family at Owenton, Ky.; that while en route from her uncle's home to Owenton, Ky., the said Perry took her to a place in the city of Cincinnati, and there had connection with her, and that afterward the said J. W. Perry had connection with her at his own house at Owenton, Ky.
